REPORT OF LIBRARY TRUSTEES

Forty-six new books have been added to the Library in the past year, including a gift of twenty-eight volumes from the N. H. State Library Commission.

We are glad to learn that some of the books of an educational nature, presented by the late Miss M. Z. Parker, are being useful to our young people. That was Miss Parker's hope and purpose as expressed by her when she presented the books.

The library has been well cared for by Misses Doris and Ruth Nelson, and well patronized by the public during the past year.

Mr. J. S. Smart, chairman of the Trustees of the Goshen Trust Funds, informs us that the sum of one thousand dollars has been received for the library from the estate of the late Edwin N. Pettis, but that the income from it is not yet available for the purchase of books, but will be later.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the members of the School Board, and the Citizens of Goshen, N. H.

To be able to report an uneventful school year, in this year of widespread distress and contention, is in itself a pleasure.

The Goshen schools, during the last year, have run along smoothly and well. The progress of the pupils has been satisfactory. With so many parts of our country suffering from extreme economic distress, and with the political unrest which goes with such conditions, we are indeed fortunate.

In common with all municipalities, it behooves us to examine closely our finances, to see if we can in any way lighten the tax burden. This we are not able to do as directly as are many towns, as our excess cost is borne by the State. However, our task is to see that we get our money's worth for each dollar spent.

It does not seem to me that we can make much of a showing in this direction, because—unfortunately perhaps, at least for purposes of making a showing—your Board has never allowed those wasteful practices to creep in, which have been the cause of near ruin in so many places. So, if we have not been having waste, it is pretty hard to eliminate waste.

I would like to say right here that I do not recall ever working with a Board which has been as careful in expenditures as has yours been. When I say careful, I mean careful. I have seen boards which have been niggardly, depriving the schools of necessary materials. Often that type of management is the most wasteful. But in being careful, you have provided the schools with all necessary material and support, merely being sure to spend your money wisely.

One of the primary aims of elementary schools is to put the child in possession of the skills and book knowledge which will be of value to him in later life. But today another aim is preparing for high school, as most children go to high school.

Usually, our grammar school graduates enter high school in Newport. We have arranged our course of study and standards of achievement so that our pupils will have approximately the same preparation as others entering this school. The exceptions are in Science and French, and it seems to be impossible to provide these in a mixed school.

By means of standard tests given to all schools in the Union, we are able to compare the progress of our children to others, and to rank accordingly. It gives me pleasure to state that our tests show that our pupils average just as high as those in larger schools.

Many small schools have a tendency to give rank marks which are too high. Then when a pupil enters high school, having had all high marks in elementary school, he finds that he really is not able to earn such marks with the greater competition. He gets discouraged and drops out. Our teachers are now marking in such a manner that the pupils can know how they would stand if they went to another and larger school.

Schools are a community and not a purely local business. Two events this year have taken place which emphasize this fact. Instead of a graduation last June, we held a joint field day at Rand's Pond. Members of the two schools competed in athletic events, and a large number of parents were also present. At Christmas time, a joint entertainment was given in the town hall by members of the two schools.

These activities bring to mind the long discussed question of consolidation. The matter was quite definitely settled for the time being at the last annual meeting, as the vote was very strong for keeping the separate schools. However, I believe that both the School Board and the Superintendent still are of the opinion that consolidation is the wise move. For that reason I am including mention of it in this report, not to start a new argument, but merely to keep before you the previous recommendations.

May I express appreciation for the devoted work of our teachers, the kind cooperation of parents, and the thoughtful and sympathetic guidance and assistance of the Board during the last year.

Very truly yours,

F. A. MORRIS
